FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Gryphon Digital Mining Announces Operational Update

Record hashrate achieved as bitcoin efficiency continues to lead peers

Las Vegas, NV — March 23, 2023--Gryphon Digital Mining, (“Gryphon” or the “Company”), a leading net carbon neutral bitcoin miner, has released its operational updates for January and February 2023.

Key highlights for each month:

January:

- Produced approximately 82 bitcoin-equivalent coins
- Achieved peer-leading bitcoin efficiency of 113 BTC/EH
- Record average hashing power of 730 PH/s

February:

- Produced approximately 66 bitcoin-equivalent coins
- Achieved top two-level bitcoin efficiency of 94 BTC/EH
- Recorded average hashing power of 703 PH/s

During January, Gryphon mined approximately 82 bitcoin-equivalent coins with an average hashing power of 730 PH/s. In February, the number of bitcoin-equivalents earned declined to 66 due to a rise in global network hashrate in response to a 37% increase in the price of bitcoin over the first two months of the year.

Gryphon’s January performance translated into a bitcoin efficiency rating of 113 BTC/EH, placing it first among a peer group of companies whose efficiency has been publicly reported and averaged 95 BTC/EH. The Company’s February efficiency rating of 94 BTC/EH ranked second among a group of peers that posted an average score of 82 BTC/EH. Since Gryphon commenced operations in September 2021, it has consistently placed among the top three of these publicly available bitcoin efficiency scores – ranking at or tied for first in eight of the last 12 months.

Month over month, the number of coins mined increased by approximately 15% in January from the previous month, while it later declined by 20% in February. The average hashing power by the Company increased by 17% in January to a record 730 PH/s, as high electricity prices caused by severe weather during the December holiday season led to periods of curtailment in the prior month. In February, hashing power declined by 4% to 703 PH/s due to a three-day curtailment period caused by high energy costs in response to cold weather.

In addition to its mining operations, Gryphon has also made progress on its previously announced merger with Akerna Corp. (Nasdaq:KERN) to create a leading, ESG-committed, carbon-neutral bitcoin miner. Upon completion of the merger, Akerna will change its name to Gryphon Digital Mining Inc. The merger is expected to provide Akerna shareholders with access to the bitcoin mining industry with one of its premier operators. The parties are working closely and diligently to prepare the required filings for the merger with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and NASDAQ.

Overall, Gryphon Digital Mining has shown strong operational performance in the first two months of 2023, maintaining its position as a leader in the net carbon neutral bitcoin mining industry. FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Gryphon Digital Mining Announces Operational Update

New All-Time High Hashrate Achieved as Attributable Mining Power Grows

Las Vegas, NV — April 27, 2023-- Gryphon Digital Mining, (“Gryphon” or the “Company”), a leading net carbon neutral bitcoin miner, has released its operational update for March 2023.

Key highlights for the month:

- Produced approximately 71 bitcoin-equivalent coins
- Achieved top two-level bitcoin efficiency of 94 BTC/EH<sup>1</sup>
- All-time high average self-mining hashing power of 750 PH/s

Key highlights for the quarter:

- Produced approximately 221 bitcoin-equivalent coins
- Ranked first in bitcoin efficiency in two of the three months of the quarter
- All-time high average self-mining hashing power for the quarter of 685 PH/s

During March, Gryphon mined approximately 71 bitcoin-equivalent coins with an average hashing power of 750 PH/s. The month’s performance translated into a bitcoin efficiency rating of 94 BTC/EH, placing it second among a peer group of companies whose efficiency has been publicly reported and averaged 81 BTC/EH for the same period. Since Gryphon commenced operations in September 2021, it has consistently placed among the top three of these publicly available bitcoin efficiency scores – ranking at or tied for first in eight of the last 12 months.

Month over month, the number of bitcoin -equivalent coins mined increased by approximately 8% in March. The average hashing power by the Company increased by 7% as power curtailments in February caused a reduction in mining activity in the prior month, which muted the benefit of additional machines that were placed online in January and February.

For the first quarter of 2023, Gryphon mined 221 bitcoin-equivalent coins with an average hashing power of 685 PH/s. The number of bitcoin-equivalent coins mined were a modest decline of 4% from the 230 coins mined in Q4/22 but was a significant increase year-over-year from the 146 coins mined in Q1/22 (51%). Hashrate for the quarter was higher than the 659 PH/s observed in Q4/22 (4%) and substantially higher than the 323 PH/s operating in Q1/22 (112%).

<sup>1</sup> Efficiency metrics include information from Gryphon and its royalty stream partner.

Attributable Hashrate to Grow by End of May

Gryphon anticipates that additional growth is right around the corner as its royalty stream partner has announced that it expects to ramp up to 1.5 exahash by the end of May 2023. Gryphon has a management services agreement with its royalty partner where it receives 22.5% of the gross profit from all its current and future blockchain operations for an initial 5-year period. Based on our partner’s announcement, Gryphon expects to enjoy the gross profit impact of an additional attributable hashrate of 0.34 exahash in exchange for management services. This would bring Gryphon’s total attributable hashrate to 1.1 EH/s on a cost basis of only 0.75 EH/s.

Merger with Akerna

In addition to its mining operations, Gryphon continues to make progress on its previously announced merger with Akerna Corp. (Nasdaq:KERN) to create a leading, ESG-committed, carbon-neutral bitcoin miner. Work on the S-4 filing is in its final stages and we expect Akerna to be in position to file the document in the near term. Upon completion of the merger, Akerna will change its name to Gryphon Digital Mining Inc. The merger is expected to provide Akerna shareholders with access to the bitcoin mining industry with one of its premier operators. The parties are working closely and diligently to prepare the required filings for the merger with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and NASDAQ.

Overall, Gryphon Digital Mining has shown strong operational performance in the first quarter of 2023, maintaining its position as a leader in the net carbon neutral bitcoin mining industry.
